ANARCHISTS AND COLD WAR.

To the Editor: The headline story, "Kinston 'Anti' Movement Aims at Churches, Texts," March 5, is fantastic by any standard, especially so to me when it was stated that Robert Welsh of my class, UNC '16, was the organizer of the national movement. I remember him as a charming fellow with a brilliant mathematical mind. Anyway, your editorial March 7, "Anarchists in Kinston," disposed of it admirably. The common sense of the American people may, as you infer, be relied upon to properly evaluate the pros and cons of these organizations.

I was pleased to see that the Appellate Court of New York held the self-styled head of the American Nazi Party should be permitted to speak in a public place. Many have and will disagree with the Jeffersonian principle that error may be tolerated so long as truth is free to combat it. We would be much better off in the United States today if we permitted unpopular ideas, such as communism, free discussion and play short of planning the overthrow of the government. The denial of the right of free speech to any group tends to restrict that of every group. The choice ultimately is between the free society and the Garrison State.

Much more dangerous than the "Anarchists" is the cold war. In truth, unless we can bring this monster under control any people that are left will probably be anarchists. It is only the cold war that makes acceptable the reported plans of the U.S. Government to overthrow the Castro government in Cuba. This aggressive type of subversion is alien to every decent instinct of the American people.

Yet there is much evidence to support the charge that the CIA engineered the overthrow of Mossadeq, Prime Minister of Iran, 1953; Arbenz in 1954; the Neutralist Government of Laos, 1956, and again 1960; and you reported editorially Feb. 15 that the younger brother of the President, Edward Kennedy, stated in a weekend interview that Kassavubu, President of the Congo, was the "tool" of the American American Central Intelligence Agency.

During a recent trip to Cuba, many people from other Latin American countries openly stated that Mr. Dulles was financing the organization and training of Cuban counter-revolutionists. They cited the location of bases. If these charges are true, we are in real trouble. It will cost many thousands of lives, millions of dollars and our reputation for decency throughout the world. Quite a price pay for hurt ego.
